REPORT OF SEMINAR

Topic of the Event: Polyamino acids: From computerised protein models to a drug for the treatment of multiple sclerosis

Date & Time of Event: 22nd October, 2021 & 10:30 AM

Hosted by: Sarojini Naidu Vanita Pharmacy Maha Vidyalaya, Tarnaka, Hyderabad. Summary

Sarojini Naidu Vanita Pharmacy Maha Vidyalaya, College for Women, (Sponsored by The Exhibition Society) organized a guest lecture on the topic "Polyamino acids: From protein models to a drug for the treatment of multiple sclerosis" on 22nd October 2021, at 10.30 am. The Guest Speaker for this lecture was Dr. Kota Satyanarayana, Vice President R&D, Natco Research Centre, Natco Pharma Limited, Hyderabad, Telangana State.

For this lecture, students of B. Pharm IV year, III year, II year and Teaching Faculty have been participated.

The programme started with a prayer song and the welcome address was given by our Director Dr. N. Srinivas garu inviting our guest speaker Dr. K Satyanarayana garu. Dr. T. Saritha Jyostna, Vice Principal, introduced the guest speaker to the participants which was followed by the session.

During the session, Dr. K Satyanarayana sir discussed about Multiple Sclerosis and drug therapy for MS. He also explained role of Natco research center in development of the wonder drug glatiramer acetate (a therapeutic vaccine) and contributions of computer based poly amino acids chemistry to the various scientific concepts.

The lecture was received with admiration by the students, conveying right message from historical perspective, motivating interest toward chemistry subjects. We, the faculty and students are very thankful to the Dr. B. Prabha Shankar Sir, Chairman of SNVPMV for arranging an excellent guest lecture. It was an extremely informative and an interactive session where students acquired basic knowledge about multiple Sclerosis and drug therapy. The session was concluded with the question and answer and the participants clarified their doubts regarding the session. Finally the vote of thanks was given by Smt. N. Indira Rani, Asst. Professor who thanked the guest speaker and all the participants for making this event successful.

NIN VISIT REPORT: Software facilities to conduct Experiments on Animal models

We visited ICMR-National Institute of Nutrition animal facility on 16th march 2022 in the afternoon session (2:00pm - 4:00pm). We faculty group of 3 members have joined 45 students of B Pharmacy and Pharm D IV year.

At NIN initially we gathered in meeting hall and we were addressed by Dr. Satyavani and Dr. Pradeep Patil. Dr. Pradeep, has delivered a brief lecture on animal facility and software for describing about various lab animals their maintenance and parameters necessary for animal house. Below topics were thrown light:

- SOP's to be followed in an animal facility and software facility to conduct experiments on animals
- Importance of qualified personnel in animal husbandry
- Maintenance parameters: Adequate space, light, humidity, air cycles, noise
- Biowaste disposal
- Barriers: air curtains, air showers, UV cabinet, Pass box
- Handling of animals
- Routes of blood collection
- Vision and mission of animal facility
- Significance of enrichment in animal experimentation
- Importance of Bedding material and their maintenance. Use of alternative bedding material for better research outcomes
- Awareness on sub clinical infections, zoonotic diseases of personnel handling animals

He has shared various personal experiences in handling and treating animals which helped students in better understanding.

We then have visited:

Diet section: -

- We have seen various equipment for feed preparation. Autoclave, pellet machine (12mm, 8mm), mixer, dryer. Their working procedures and maintenance.
- Raw material necessary for feed preparation
- Protein feed and their composition (14%- Guinea pigs, 20% rats and mice, 27% geriatric rats)

- Different monkey facilities were shown.
- Rhesus monkeys were available
- Types of diet and maintenance was explained by the instructor.
- Students have learnt about experimentation on monkeys and the facilities to be provided for research activities.

Finally, we have explored the whole animal facility giving basic and live knowledge to students. Students have benefitted by physical visit as they have only simulations in their curriculum. They have gained knowledge in animal and their experimental purpose. We Dr. S. Hemalatha, Mrs. Harini M, Mrs Hymavathi, the faculty and students are grateful to our management for giving an opportunity to this visit. We also thank instructors at NIN for delivering a good lecture and allowing us for a visit.
