Report on

Arrive Alive by Telangana Traffic Police

The "Arrive Alive" campaign is a state-wide initiative by the Telangana State Police aimed at drastically reducing road accidents and fatalities. The program was officially launched on Monday, January 12, 2026, by the Hon'ble Chief Minister of Telangana, Shri Anumula Revanth Reddy, at the Kotla Vijaya Bhaskar Indoor Stadium in Yousufguda, Hyderabad.

Program Objectives:

The campaign seeks to transform Telangana into a model state for road safety through a multi-faceted approach:

1. Behavioral Change: Shifting public mindset toward a culture of "Defensive Driving."
2. Community Involvement: Engaging students, youth, NGOs, and corporate sectors to make road safety a "people's movement."
3. Targeted Enforcement: Cracking down on high-risk violations such as riding without helmets (including pillion), drunk driving, wrong-side driving, and mobile phone usage while driving.
4. Technological Integration: Using AI, CCTV linkage to Command Centers, and potentially auto-deducting traffic fines from bank accounts to ensure accountability.

During the launch of the "Arrive Alive" campaign, Chief Minister Shri Anumula Revanth Reddy delivered a strong message, framing road safety as a "serious social issue" rather than just a legal one. Key points from the Chief Minister's speech:

1. Comparison to Wars and Crime

The CM highlighted the staggering scale of road fatalities, noting that:

- More lives are lost in road accidents than in wars." He pointed out that while the state saw about 800 murders last year, over 7,500 people died in road accidents.
- He emphasized that a road accident occurs every minute in India, and a life is lost every three minutes.
- He stated that road accidents have become a more serious threat to public safety than cybercrime, drugs, or even violent crimes.

2. Proposals for Strict Enforcement

The CM proposed revolutionary changes to how traffic rules are enforced:

- Auto-Debit Fine System: He suggested that traffic fines (challans) should be directly deducted from the violator's bank account. He directed officials to collect bank details at the time of vehicle registration to enable this automated system.

- Parental Accountability: He warned that parents would be held responsible if their minor children were caught driving.
- Iron Fist Policy: He called for a "zero tolerance" approach toward drunk driving and underage driving.

3. Institutional & Policy Reforms

- Top Priority Postings: He mentioned that traditionally, a posting to the Road Safety Authority was seen as a "punishment posting," but under his government, it will be a high-priority wing led by DG or ADG rank officers with full powers.
- New Road Safety Law: He discussed the requirement for a new state law to make accident prevention a primary government agenda, similar to specialized wings like HYDRAA or Greyhounds.
- Google Partnership: He revealed that the government has signed an MoU with Google for advanced traffic management and that CCTV cameras across the state would be linked to a central Command and Control Center.

4. Emotional and Social Appeal

- Personal Loss: The CM emotionally recalled the tragic loss of children experienced by his colleagues (like Komatireddy Venkat Reddy) and popular figures (like Babu Mohan and Kota Srinivasa Rao) due to road accidents.
- Culture of Safety: He stressed that even careful drivers lose their lives due to the mistakes of others, which is why awareness must begin at the student level to create a collective "people's movement."

CONCLUSION:

The "Arrive Alive" campaign marks a pivotal shift in Telangana's approach to public safety, moving beyond traditional enforcement to a technology-driven "people's movement." By integrating advanced measures like the auto-debit fine system, AI-monitored surveillance, and stricter accountability for parents and minor drivers, the state government has signaled a zero-tolerance policy toward traffic violations.

The program's success hinges on transforming road safety from a regulatory requirement into a shared social responsibility. As Chief Minister Revanth Reddy emphasized, the goal is not merely to issue fines but to protect lives and prevent the "avoidable deaths" that currently outnumber criminal fatalities in the state. If executed effectively over its 10-day intensive phase and beyond, "Arrive Alive" has the potential to make Telangana a national model for road safety and urban traffic management.

Acknowledgments

We Express our sincere gratitude to the Hon'ble Chief Minister Shri Anumula Revanth Reddy and the Telangana State Police for launching the "Arrive Alive" initiative. Thanks to the transport authorities and participating citizens for their commitment to making our roads safer
