Report on

Cohance Life sciences Campus Drive at SNVPMV, Tarnaka.

Date: 15th April 2026

Time: 10:00 A.M. onwards

Venue: SNVPMV Auditorium

Total Number of Participants: 90 students.

A recruitment drive by Cohance Life Sciences was successfully conducted at Sarojini Naidu Vanitha Maha Vidhyalaya (SNVPMV), Tarnaka. The drive aimed to provide students with valuable career opportunities in the pharmaceutical industry and to bridge the gap between academia and industry.

The programme was efficiently anchored by a B. Pharm Final Year student Mohammedi. The event commenced with a warm welcome to the dignitaries and participants, followed by the formal invitation of the guests onto the dais.

The distinguished guests included Ms. P. Madhavi, HR Professional, Cohance Life Sciences; Mrs. Sai Priya, Senior executive, QC department, Mrs, Siva Parvathi, Manager, QMS department; Ms. Nanidini, HR Professional; Dr. N. Srinivas, HOD–RA and Placement Cell In-charge; Dr. T. Mamatha, Principal, SNVPMV and Dr. B. Haarika, Vice-Principal, SNVPMV.

Eco-friendly greetings were formally presented to the guest speaker by B. Pharm Final Year students, as a mark of respect and appreciation.

Proceedings of the Programme:

Dr. T. Mamatha, Principal of SNVPMV, presided over the programme and delivered the welcome address. Dr. N. Srinivas, Director of SNVPMV, provided an insightful overview of the diverse career opportunities available to students and motivated them by emphasizing the importance of organizing such recruitment drives in collaboration with Cohance Life Sciences.

Mrs. P. Madhavi, HR Manager, presented a comprehensive overview of Cohance Life Sciences, highlighting the available career opportunities and growth prospects for aspiring professionals. She elaborated on various job roles, including R&D Scientists, QA and QC positions, and apprentice roles. In addition, she provided detailed information on company policies, compensation structure, incentives, and bond policies.

A total of 90 students engaged actively in the recruitment process. The drive experienced enthusiastic participation from B. Pharm VIII Semester students, indicating their readiness and eagerness to move into the professional arena.

The selection process commenced with an online assessment test featuring 50 MCQ questions that included topics such as validation methods, instrumentation, GMP guidelines, and basic analytical instrumentation techniques along with their applications. Furthermore, all students were assessed on their communication skills, subject knowledge, and overall suitability for the roles available in the technical round.

Among the 90 participants, 52 students cleared the technical round, overseen by Mrs. Sai Priya and Mrs. Siva Parvathi, QC and QMS managers. In the final HR round, 10 students were selected. This selection underscores the strong potential and preparedness of the students at SNVPMV.

The Cohance Life Sciences drive proved to be a significant opportunity for students, providing them with exposure to real-world recruitment processes and opening doors to promising careers. The institution expresses its gratitude to Mrs. P. Madhavi and Ms. Nandidni, HR professionals, for their successful organization and execution of the drive.

Vote of Thanks:

The results of the interview were announced, showcasing the selected candidates by the Placement Cell Coordinator. Dr. N. Srinivas, Head of the Department of RA and Placement Incharge at SNVPMV, proposed the Vote of Thanks. He conveyed his heartfelt appreciation to the management of SNVPMV for their ongoing encouragement, support, and for providing the essential facilities to successfully hold the seminar. He also acknowledged Cohance Lifesciences and the Placement Coordinators, Dr. T. Vani and Dr. KVRS. Chaitanya, for their valuable time and efforts in coordinating a successful drive.

Conclusion

The campus recruitment drive conducted by Cohance Lifesciences at SNVPMV was a significant and successful event, providing valuable career opportunities for aspiring pharmacy students. The event was well-organized, beginning with an informative pre-placement talk by the company's HR representatives, who provided insights into the organization, its work culture, and the roles offered in Quality Control (QC) and Quality Assurance (QA). This session helped students gain clarity about job expectations and career growth prospects within the organization.

The support and guidance provided by the SNVPMV Technical Team played a crucial role in preparing students for the interviews, ensuring that they approached the process with confidence and professionalism. The coordination between the institution and the company representatives was smooth, contributing to the overall success of the drive.

Overall, the campus drive strengthened the institute-industry relationship and opened promising career pathways for students. Such initiatives not only enhance employability but also motivate students to align their academic learning with industry requirements.

Outcomes:

One of the key outcomes was the successful shortlisting and selection of eligible candidates for roles in Quality Control (QC) and Quality Assurance (QA), thereby providing them with a strong entry point into the pharmaceutical industry. Even for those not selected, the experience enhanced their confidence, interview skills, and understanding of industry expectations.

Additionally, the event strengthened the collaboration between SNVPMV and Cohance Lifesciences, paving the way for future recruitment drives, internships, and industry interactions. It also reinforced the importance of continuous skill development and industry readiness among students.

Impact on Students:

The campus drive conducted by Cohance Lifesciences had a positive impact on SNVPMV by improving both academic and professional growth. It helped enhance the institute's placement record, showing its strong focus on student careers and industry readiness.

The drive also strengthened the relationship between the institute and the industry, highlighting SNVPMV as a source of skilled pharmacy graduates. This may lead to more opportunities such as future campus drives, internships, industrial visits, and expert sessions.

It also created better awareness among students about career opportunities in the pharmaceutical field, especially in Quality Control (QC) and Quality Assurance (QA). Participating in the recruitment process motivated students to improve their technical knowledge, communication skills, and overall confidence.
