CIRCULAR ORIENTATION DAY 2026-27

Date: 02-10-2026 (Friday)

Time: 10:00 A.M. onwards

Venue: SNVPMV Auditorium

This is to inform all the newly admitted students of M. Pharmacy and Pharm.D (PB), along with their parents, faculty members and non-teaching staff, that the Orientation Day for the academic year 2026-27 will be held on 2nd October 2026 at 10:00 A.M.

The event will be presided over by our honorable Chairman, Dr. B. Prabha Shankar.

Orientation Day introduces new students to our institution's academic culture, curriculum, facilities and code of conduct.

Participants:

- Newly admitted M. Pharmacy and Pharm.D (PB) students (attendance mandatory)
- Parents of newly admitted students (cordially invited)
- Teaching and Non-Teaching Staff Members

Core Objectives:

- Welcome and Integration: Formally receive incoming students and their parents into the institution's community.
- Academic Familiarization: Give a full overview of the M. Pharmacy and Pharm.D (PB) course structures, curriculum and examination patterns.
- Campus Awareness: Introduce students to institutional facilities, laboratories, libraries, support systems and the mandatory code of conduct.

Expected Impact:

- Smooth Academic Transition: New students will begin their courses with clear expectations, reducing initial anxiety and academic confusion.
- Stronger Stakeholder Trust: Meeting the leadership reassures parents of the institution's commitment to quality education and student safety.
- Immediate Community Building: The event encourages early interaction among peers, senior faculty and staff, laying the groundwork for a supportive and collaborative learning environment.

All newly admitted students are required to attend the programme without fail. All faculty and staff members are requested to make the necessary arrangements and ensure the smooth conduct of the event.

4. Gandhi Jayanthi & Lal Bahadur Shastri Jayanti – Commemorative Session

The commemorative session was scheduled from 10:45 AM to 11:15 AM. The programme schedule provides for a floral tribute to Mahatma Gandhi on Gandhi Jayanthi and Lal Bahadur Shastri Jayanti, followed by speeches by Dr. P. Ravi Kumar, Dr. Leemol Shaju and students. The following short speeches are prepared for delivery during this session.

4.1 Speech on Gandhi Jayanthi:

Dr. P. Ravi Kumar, HoD & Professor, Department of Pharmacognosy

Respected dignitaries, colleagues and dear students, today we remember Mahatma Gandhi and the values he represented—truth, non-violence, simplicity, discipline and service. These values remain relevant to every profession, including pharmacy. As healthcare professionals, we must place honesty, responsibility and the welfare of people at the centre of our work. Let us remember Gandhi Ji not only through words, but by practising integrity, discipline and service in our daily academic and professional lives. Thank you.

4.2 Speech on Gandhi Jayanthi

Dr. Leemol Shaju, Associate Professor

Good morning to everyone. Gandhi Jayanthi reminds us of the importance of truth, peaceful conduct and responsibility towards society. Students entering the pharmacy profession have an important role in protecting public health through knowledge and ethical practice. Let us develop the habit of being truthful in our studies, honest in our research and responsible in our professional conduct. May the values of Gandhi Ji guide us in becoming responsible professionals and good citizens. Thank you.

4.3 Student Speech

Ms. Pravallika, Final Year B.Pharmacy

Respected dignitaries, teachers and dear students, Gandhi Jayanthi gives us an opportunity to remember the importance of truth, discipline and service. As students, we can follow these values by being sincere in our education, respectful towards others and responsible in our actions. As future pharmacy professionals, we should always remember that our knowledge must ultimately serve society. Let us carry these values into our academic and professional lives. Thank you.

4.4 Student Speech

Ms. Devena, Third Year B.Pharmacy

Respected dignitaries, faculty members and dear friends, Gandhi Ji taught us that meaningful change begins with our own actions. As students, we can contribute by maintaining discipline, respecting others, being honest in our work and helping those around us. On this Gandhi

Jayanthi, let us take a simple pledge to become better students, responsible citizens and ethical pharmacy professionals. Thank you.

5. Address on Institutional Governance

5.1 Address by Dr. Hyma

Governance of the Institution – Exhibition Society & Governing Body

Respected dignitaries, faculty members and dear students, SNVPMV functions with the support of the Exhibition Society and the guidance of its Governing Body. Students should understand that institutional governance provides direction for academic quality, administration, infrastructure, and research and student development. The management, academic leadership and faculty work together to create a supportive educational environment. She also given her stance on exhibition society “The Exhibition Society, Hyderabad, established in 1938, is a non-profit organization working in education, industry, entrepreneurship, healthcare and social development. Its major initiative is the All India Industrial Exhibition (AIIE), popularly known as Numaish, which provides a common platform for industries, MSMEs, artisans and entrepreneurs to display and market their products.

The Society supports 20 educational institutions in Telangana, serving around 30,000 students through professional, technical and general education. It promotes skill development, employment, entrepreneurship and affordable education.”

I encourage students to make responsible use of the opportunities and facilities provided by the institution and to contribute positively to its academic culture.

6. Management and Governing Body Addresses

6.1 Chairman’s Welcome Address

Dr. B. Prabha Shankar, Chairman, SNVPMV (Co-Ed.)

Respected dignitaries, members of the Governing Body, Principal, faculty members, staff and dear students, I warmly welcome our new M.Pharmacy and Pharm. D (Post Baccalaureate) students to SNVPMV. Our institution is sponsored by the Exhibition Society, which has a long tradition of supporting education and community-oriented activities. He also “The Exhibition Society, Hyderabad, established in 1938, is a non-profit organization working in education, industry, entrepreneurship, healthcare and social development. Its major initiative is the All India Industrial Exhibition (AIIE), popularly known as Numaish, which provides a common platform for industries, MSMEs, artisans and entrepreneurs to display and market their products.

You are joining an institution where academics, research, professional skills and values are given importance. I encourage you to use our laboratories, faculty expertise and research opportunities effectively. Develop the habit of reading, questioning and conducting research with integrity. Let your education prepare you not only for a qualification, but for meaningful professional service. I wish you all a successful academic journey.

6.2 Secretary's Address

Sri B. Hanumanth Rao, Hon. Secretary, SNVPMV (Co-Ed.)

Respected Chairman, Governing Body members, Principal, faculty and dear students, welcome to SNVPMV. The Exhibition Society has a long-standing service orientation, and education is an important part of this mission. Students are expected to maintain discipline, regular attendance, professional conduct and respect for institutional rules. Make full use of academic, research and professional development opportunities. I wish all our new students a productive and successful journey.

6.3 Treasurer's Address

Smt. Sandhya Deepala, Treasurer, SNVPMV (Co-Ed.)

Respected dignitaries, faculty members and dear students, I welcome you to SNVPMV. Educational development requires responsible use of institutional resources. I request students to handle laboratory equipment, books and other facilities carefully and follow safety and maintenance procedures. Research also requires responsible use of resources and accurate scientific work. Use every facility available to you for learning and professional development. I wish you all the very best.

6.4 Governing Body Member's Address

Dr. A. V. Srikanth, Governing Body Member, SNVPMV (Co-Ed.)

Respected Chairman, members of the management, faculty and dear students, I welcome you to the new academic year. The Governing Body supports the institution in maintaining academic quality and promoting institutional development. The Exhibition Society provides an important service-oriented foundation for the institution. I particularly encourage students to take research seriously. Develop skills in literature review, research methodology, data analysis and scientific communication. Participate in interdisciplinary and industry-oriented projects wherever possible. Good research must be ethical, reliable and relevant. I wish you success in your academic and research journey.

7. Academic and Administrative Orientation

7.1 Academics, General Rules & Regulations

Dr. B. Haarika, Principal

Welcome to SNVPMV. Maintain regular attendance, follow the timetable, complete assignments and practical work on time, and understand the academic regulations from the beginning. Use the library, laboratories and digital resources actively. Maintain discipline, academic integrity and professional behaviour throughout your programme.

7.2 Holistic Development

Dr. K. Neelima, Vice-Principal

Professional development is more than academic marks. Develop communication, teamwork, leadership, time management and ethical decision-making. Participate in co-curricular, extracurricular, professional and outreach activities. Aim to become a competent and responsible pharmacy professional.

7.3 Training & Placements

Dr. N. Srinivas, Director – Corporate Affairs, Admissions & Placements

Career preparation should begin from the first semester. Develop technical knowledge, communication skills, presentation ability, resume-writing and interview skills. Make use of training, industrial visits, internships, seminars and placement activities to understand the expectations of the pharmaceutical sector.

7.4 Accreditations of the Institution

Dr. T. Mamatha, Dean Evaluation

Quality is a continuous process. SNVPMV has established quality systems reflected through its accreditation and quality initiatives. Students are important stakeholders in this process. Regular attendance, academic participation, feedback, discipline and achievement contribute to institutional quality and continuous improvement.

7.5 Examination System

Dr. S. Muni Sireesha, Controller of Examinations

Students should understand the examination calendar, internal assessment, eligibility requirements and examination procedures. Maintain examination discipline and academic integrity. For any examination-related clarification, approach the examination section through the prescribed procedure.

7.6 Student Affairs

Smt. Navneetha, Administrative Officer

Student affairs supports the smooth academic and administrative journey of students. Keep your records updated, follow official procedures and read institutional notices carefully. Communicate with the administration through the appropriate channels whenever support or clarification is required.

8.0. Departmental Sessions and Facility Visit

After lunch, the official schedule provides departmental presentations from 2:00 PM to 3:00 PM, with respective HODs introducing their departments and faculty. This is followed by a visit to departmental laboratories and general college facilities from 3:00 PM to 3:30 PM. The programme concludes with feedback on satisfaction and happiness perception from 3:30 PM to 3:45 PM.

The departmental presentations should briefly cover the programme structure, faculty expertise, research areas, laboratory facilities, project opportunities, seminars, industrial exposure, student mentoring and professional opportunities. The facility visit should familiarize students with the learning and research infrastructure.

9.0. Pharmacist Oath

The Pharmacist Oath was administered by Dr. K. Neelima, Vice-Principal, from 12:55 PM to 1:00 PM. The oath emphasized the professional responsibilities, ethical values and commitment expected from students entering the pharmacy profession.

10. Short Vote of Thanks

Mrs. R.V.S. Lathasree, HOD – Department of IT & Allied Subjects

On behalf of SNVPMV, I sincerely thank the Chairman, management and Governing Body members for their guidance and support. I thank the Principal, Vice-Principal, Deans, Directors, HODs, faculty members, administrative staff and organizing team for their contribution. I also thank our speakers and students for their active participation. I warmly welcome the new M.Pharmacy and Pharm. D students and wish them a successful academic journey. Thank you. Followed by National anthem.

11. Expected Outcomes

- New students understand the institution, its governance and academic culture.
- Students are aware of academic, examination, discipline and administrative expectations.
- Students understand the importance of professional ethics and service.
- Students are introduced to research, innovation and industry interaction.
- Students become aware of training and placement opportunities.
- Students become familiar with departments, faculty, laboratories and facilities.
- Student feedback is obtained for improving future orientation programmes.

12. Expected Impact

The Gandhi Jayanthi & Orientation Day–2026 provided a structured introduction to SNVPMV for the 48 newly admitted students of M.Pharmacy and Pharm.D (Post Baccalaureate). The programme helped students understand the institution's academic structure, governance, rules and regulations, examination system, accreditation practices, research opportunities, training and placement activities, and student support systems. The interaction with the management, Governing Body, Principal, faculty and administrative representatives helped establish a clear understanding of institutional expectations and professional responsibilities. The Gandhi Jayanthi observance reinforced values of truth, discipline, service and ethical conduct, while the departmental presentations and laboratory visit familiarized students with their academic departments and facilities. Overall, the programme created a positive beginning to the students' academic journey and motivated them towards academic excellence, research, professional development and responsible service to society.

13. Conclusion

The Gandhi Jayanthi & Orientation Day–2026 / Introduction Programme 2026–27 was successfully conducted for the newly admitted M.Pharmacy and Pharm.D (Post Baccalaureate) students of SNVPMV. A total of 48 students reported and participated in the orientation programme. The programme provided students with an introduction to the institution, its governance structure, academic regulations, examination system, accreditation and quality initiatives, training and placement opportunities, research activities and student support systems. The Gandhi Jayanthi and Lal Bahadur Shastri Jayanti observance also provided an opportunity to emphasize values of truth, discipline, service, responsibility and professional ethics. The interaction with the Chairman, Secretary, Treasurer, Governing Body Member, Principal, Vice-Principal, faculty and administrative representatives helped students understand the expectations and opportunities available at SNVPMV. The departmental presentations and laboratory visit further familiarized the students with their respective departments and facilities. Overall, the programme provided a meaningful beginning to the academic journey of the 48 students and encouraged them to pursue academic excellence, research, professional development and responsible service to society.
